

LAST MONTH
THE WORLD
PUBLISHED
2,393 MORE
Help Wanted Advertisements than all the fifteen other New York morning, evening and
Sunday newspapers combined.
Everybody wanting help reads the situation ad. in
The World. A 20-word situation ad. costs 10 cents.

The

Evening Edition
Brooklyn
Circulation Books Open to All.

The World.

MOVING TIME APPROACHES.
It is, Therefore, Time to ADVERTISE REAL ESTATE.
THE WORLD
IS THE GREAT REAL ESTATE MEDIUM OF
NEW YORK.
Remember this Rate: 10 Lines 1st Insertion, 75c.; 2d
Insertion, 60c.; 3d and subsequent insertions, 50c.

PRICE ONE CENT. NEW YORK, TUESDAY, MARCH 6, 1894. PRICE ONE CENT.

BREAKS
All Records=The World's Circulation For the First Two Months
of 1894 Averaged, Daily 433,167

LAST EDITION.
BY A M'KANE MOB.

Independents' Meeting Raided at Gravesend.

Door Broken In and Taxpayers
Forced Out.

Police Called For to Attend the Convention To-Night.

News reached Brooklyn Police Headquarters to-day of another outbreak at Gravesend. A howling mob, headed by election officials indicted with John Y. McKane, broke up a meeting of taxpayers held in the Beach Engine-House last night. A hand to hand fight, which might have been attended with serious results, was only averted by the hasty retreat of the taxpayers, who had met in the interest of honest government.

The mob took charge of the hall and conducted things just as they pleased. Since the conviction of McKane, the citizens of Gravesend, Coney Island, South Beach and Sheepshead Bay have been organizing to overthrow the "ring," now controlled by Justices R. V. B. Newton and Kenneth F. Sutherland.

At the Spring elections a successor to McKane will be chosen. Last night representatives from all the leagues met in the Beach Engine-House, in Coney Island, to elect thirty-five delegates to the Convention to be held at the Town Hall to-night, when an independent ticket will be placed in the field.

The meeting was attended by some of the most prominent citizens in the township, including Dr. Albert Chambers, J. A. Bailey, Charles Grant, Edwin Doran and James Sanguinetti, all of whom are large property-owners. Just as the meeting was called to order the door of the hall was broken open, and a howling mob raced into the room. The mob was headed by Tax Collector Charles E. Morris, who is now under indictment for assault, and who is to be tried after Sutherland.

Directly behind Morris was his namesake, Morton Morris, the First Election District Inspector indicted with McKane; John W. Murphy, formerly McKane's secretary, indicted; Edmund W. Morris, Town Treasurer, and Louis P. Sergeant, of Police. Crowding through the doors closely behind these men were about fifty of the roughest and toughest citizens in the town, all crying: "Break it up! Down 'em! down 'em!"

In a second all was confusion. The citizens, believing their lives were in danger, rushed from their seats pell-mell for the rear of the engine-house. The mob gathered around them and there was a short struggle between individuals of both sides.

Witnesses said it looked for a moment as though blood would be shed. A big burly tough rushed towards Secretary Charles McElride and Dr. Chambers, who was presiding.

The man grabbed hold of Secretary McElride and attempted to get the list of members. There was a short struggle between the two men in which Mr. McElride succeeded in tearing up the rolls.

The mob were left in charge of the hall and immediately set to work to elect their own delegates to take charge of the Convention to be held by the Citizens League to-night.

Outside in the road Dr. Chambers gathered the taxpayers together and led them down to McElride's place, where the business before the previous meeting was continued without interruption.

At the citizens left the second place of meeting and started for their homes. Dr. Chambers was accosted by a policeman in uniform, who said there was a man across the road waiting to see him.

Dr. Chambers looked in the direction indicated by the policeman and saw three men standing in a shadow armed with bats, evidently waiting to make it warm for him. Dr. Chambers told the policeman to call the men to him if they desired an interview. This he refused to do.

Some laboring men who are interested in the reform movement escorted the doctor and his friends to their homes. In view of the prospect of trouble to-night, when the independent ticket is to be placed in the field, the citizens to-day sent the following request for police protection:

To the Sergeant or Officer in charge of Police Headquarters at Coney Island:
Dear Sir: Will you be kind enough to send five policemen to the Town Hall at Gravesend on Tuesday, March 6, 1894, to preserve order at a meeting of delegates representing various independent organizations called to nominate an independent ticket to be voted for at the coming Spring election. Time of meeting, 7:30 P. M.
(Signed) F. R. JORDISON,
President of Sheepshead Bay Citizens League.
ALBERT CHAMBERS,
President of Coney Island Citizens League.

The citizens say the mob which broke up their meeting last night was composed of the same men who recently assaulted Subpoena Server Cottrell, who went to Gravesend to procure witnesses for the Committee of Twenty-five prosecuting election frauds.

If there is any trouble to-night the citizens say they will place the matter before the extraordinary Grand Jury through Deputy Attorney-General Edward M. Shepard.

BAD PICKANINNIES THESE.

Accused of Trying to Snub and Shoot a Youth.

Arthur Jones, seventeen years old, of 115 West Twenty-seventh street, and Scott Williams, two years older, of the same address, both members of the Pickaninny Band playing in "Old Kentucky," at the Academy of Music, were accused in Jefferson Market Court to-day of felonious assault on William Middleton, of 118 West Twenty-seventh street, a bright-looking mulatto boy.

The three youngsters quarrelled in a pool-room at Twenty-seventh street and Sixth avenue late last night. According to Middleton, Jones drew a large knife and made a lunge at him, and Williams drew a revolver and fired one shot at him.

Middleton got away without injury. Williams and Jones were held in $1,000 bail for trial.

LEXOW COMMITTEE PLANS.

Goff's Appointment as Counsel-List of Witnesses Ready.

(By Associated Press.)
ALBANY, March 6.—The special Senate Committee to investigate the charges against the New York Police Department will meet this afternoon, just after adjournment, and proceed to lay out a plan of procedure as to witnesses.

At the meeting Chairman Lexow will announce John W. Goff, of New York, as the counsel, and Mr. Sutherland, of Rochester, as the consulting counsel. He will also present a list of witnesses for whom he will ask for subpoenas.

MRS. NEWCOMBE'S VISIT.

Mother of Mrs. Lederer at the District-Attorney's Office.

Mrs. Richard Newcombe, the mother of Mrs. George Lederer, the wife of the well-known theatrical manager, called at the District-Attorney's office this afternoon. She was ushered into Assistant District-Attorney Hartman's office, where an interview behind closed doors was held.

The purpose of Mrs. Newcombe's visit could not be learned, but it is supposed to be in relation to the controversy now going on between Mrs. Lederer, her husband and Charles Alfred Byrne.

GUTTENBURG TO OPEN

Report that There Will Be Racing There About March 19.

Situation at Trenton Looked Upon as Favorable.

Horse-Owner Advised Not to Take Away His Horses.

Eastern turf-followers, who, since Nov. 30 of last year, have been forced to journey South or West in order to enjoy their favorite sport, will be pleased to learn that it is the present intention of the managers of the Guttenburg racetrack to reopen the hippodrome on or about March 19.

A prominent horseman is authority for this information. He states that upon announcing his intention of taking his racehorses West, one of the Hudson County Jockey Club officials advised him to remain at Guttenburg, as matters were shaping themselves very favorably for the New Jersey race-track people, and, in all probability, the Spring meeting of the Hudson County Jockey Club would be inaugurated in about a fortnight, and continued without fear of legal interruption.

Although racing with betting is lawful in that State, the New Jersey racing associations, because of threatened adverse legislation, have refrained from reopening their tracks, waiting, apparently, for the legislative bodies to adjourn without interfering with the present law, which only prohibits racing and betting during the months of December, January and February.

Weather Forecast.
The weather forecast for the thirty-six hours ending at 3 P. M. to-morrow is as follows: Fair to-day, followed by increasing cloudiness and rain on Wednesday; warmer, followed by cold Wednesday night; fresh to brisk southerly winds.

The following record shows the changes in the temperature during the morning hours, as indicated by the thermometer at Perry's pharmacy:
3 A. M., 49.4 A. M., 49.9 A. M., 50.12 M., 51

WILL THIS BATTERY STOP HER?

The Wilson Tariff Bill Under Fire of the Senate Guns.

POLICE CAPTAIN ATTACKED.

Reilly Arrests James B. Adriance on a Cable Car.

Reckless in Court, but His Assaultant Is Fined $5.

Police Capt. Thomas Reilly, of the East Fifty-first street station, was the victim of an assault which occurred on a Third avenue cable car this morning.

The Captain's assailant was a gray-haired man, about fifty-five years old, who gave his name as James B. Adriance, of 62 Bedford street. Capt. Reilly attempted to board a cable car at Fifty-first street to go down to Police Headquarters.

On the car platform stood Adriance, with both hands on the guard rails. He blocked the entire passageway, and when Capt. Reilly attempted to pass him not only failed to make way, but turned on the Captain and tried to push him off the car. Had the Captain missed his grasp on the guard-rail, he might have been injured, as a north-bound cable car was approaching at the time.

Capt. Reilly, who is a man of good build and of muscular development, finally grabbed his assailant, and, pulling him from the car, placed him under arrest. Adriance was taken to the East Fifty-first street station, and subsequently to the Yorkville Police Court.

Adriance told Justice Voorhis that he was an agent for Western Brothers, the piano manufacturers, of 101 West Fourth street. He said he was out of work, on account of the bad times, but sold blacking for a living.

The prisoner proved to be very deaf and Capt. Reilly, on seeing the condition of the man, decided not to press the complaint. Justice Voorhis decided differently. He said that the man should be punished and fined him $5 for disorderly conduct. Adriance was unable to pay the fine and was locked up in the Yorkville Prison.

Engelhardt's Mother Dead.
Mrs. Engelhardt, mother of First Mayor of New York, died last night at Mr. Engelhardt's home, 411 West Fifty-fourth street.

It gives immediate relief—we mean Salvation, the great pain-remedy. Price 25c. 5c.

HILL TO THE ATTACK.

Presents a Resolution Aimed at the Wilson Bill.

Reckless in Court, but His Assaultant Is Fined $5.

Police Capt. Thomas Reilly, of the East Fifty-first street station, was the victim of an assault which occurred on a Third avenue cable car this morning.

The Captain's assailant was a gray-haired man, about fifty-five years old, who gave his name as James B. Adriance, of 62 Bedford street. Capt. Reilly attempted to board a cable car at Fifty-first street to go down to Police Headquarters.

On the car platform stood Adriance, with both hands on the guard rails. He blocked the entire passageway, and when Capt. Reilly attempted to pass him not only failed to make way, but turned on the Captain and tried to push him off the car. Had the Captain missed his grasp on the guard-rail, he might have been injured, as a north-bound cable car was approaching at the time.

Capt. Reilly, who is a man of good build and of muscular development, finally grabbed his assailant, and, pulling him from the car, placed him under arrest. Adriance was taken to the East Fifty-first street station, and subsequently to the Yorkville Police Court.

Adriance told Justice Voorhis that he was an agent for Western Brothers, the piano manufacturers, of 101 West Fourth street. He said he was out of work, on account of the bad times, but sold blacking for a living.

The prisoner proved to be very deaf and Capt. Reilly, on seeing the condition of the man, decided not to press the complaint. Justice Voorhis decided differently. He said that the man should be punished and fined him $5 for disorderly conduct. Adriance was unable to pay the fine and was locked up in the Yorkville Prison.

Engelhardt's Mother Dead.
Mrs. Engelhardt, mother of First Mayor of New York, died last night at Mr. Engelhardt's home, 411 West Fifty-fourth street.

It gives immediate relief—we mean Salvation, the great pain-remedy. Price 25c. 5c.

LAST EDITION.

LULLEY A SUICIDE.

Aqueduct Commission's Secretary Puts a Bullet in His Brain.

Coolly and Deliberately Prepared for His Deadly Act.

Business Worry and Ill-Health Believed to Be the Cause.

Julius Caesar Lulley, Secretary of the Aqueduct Commission, committed suicide this morning at his home, 34 West Twenty-fifth street, by shooting himself through the head with a revolver.

Mr. Lulley took his life some time between 12 o'clock Sunday noon and midnight last night.

His body was found at 9 o'clock this morning by one of the servants in the house, who had been instructed by the landlady to make a door locked on the inside, and the key was in the door. She notified her mistress of the fact, and the latter sent for her brother, J. C. Southard, who was a roomer in the house.

Mr. Southard forced the door open and found his brother lying on the floor between the bed and the window. The carpet was saturated with blood, which had dried up.

A few inches from his right hand lay the revolver with which he shot himself. The bullet had entered his head, penetrating the right temple. Death must have been instantaneous.

The landlady said that she knew of no motive for Lulley's suicide unless it was ill health. He had been ailing for some time, and had been irregular in his attendance at the Aqueduct Commissioners' office.

Mr. Lulley, who was about thirty-seven years old, and unmarried, was last seen alive Sunday morning last, about 9 o'clock, by the servant who found his body this morning.

She told him on the stairway, and observing that he looked pale and agitated, remarked:

"I don't feel any better than I look," remarked Lulley. He hastened down the stairs, passed out into the street, and was not seen again by any of the servants or inmates of the house until his dead body was discovered this morning.

The landlady, who refused to give her name, said that Mr. Lulley had been an inmate of the house for about four years. She said:

"I never heard him speak of any relatives or intimate friends. He was an extremely quiet man, and very reserved in his manner.

"Even my servants were almost unacquainted with him, and he was preparing to succeed in engaging him in conversation."

He had observed the last month or so that he appeared ill. I endeavored to ascertain the cause of his illness, but he refused to tell me.

"He had been very nervous for several days past, and I believe he was suffering from an aberration of the mind."

"I do not whether he left any writing or not."

Continued worry over business affairs and chronic illness are said to be the causes of Mr. Lulley's self-murder.

Everything came to an end for Mr. Lulley had for some time contemplated putting an end to his existence, and that he made preparations for his death in the most calm and deliberate manner.

He was punctilious and systematic in everything he did, and was constantly preparing for his death with the same careful detail as though he was preparing an official report for the Aqueduct Commission.

Mr. Lulley had been ailing with the grip for a month, and he was a chronic sufferer from dyspepsia.

He was an uncomplaining man, and while he said nothing his friends noticed that he was unusually sad for the past two weeks, and his strange actions led him to believe that he was losing his mind.

Continued worry and actions Saturday last were more than remarkable. The story is here told in the words of one of the clerks in the office of the Aqueduct Commission, who was associated with Mr. Lulley.

"This morning I walked into the office and was surprised to see Mr. Lulley sitting at his desk. It was surprising because I did not expect to find him there."

"He did not come in through the same door he always did. He let himself in by a side door. He was sorting out his papers, and when he looked up I was startled."

"It was not the same Mr. Lulley I had seen the day before. His face was more than pale—it was white, altogether bloodless. His appearance in other respects was as usual, but his eyes were dead."

OVER 433,000 PER DAY.

A GAIN OF
67,858
PER DAY
IN ONE YEAR.

The World's Circulation Greater Than That of Any Other Newspaper Printed in the English Language.

A GAIN OF
125,629
PER DAY
IN THREE YEARS.

New York, March 3d, 1894.

"After a thorough examination of the circulation 'books, press-room reports, mail-room reports, paper 'companies' bills for amount of paper furnished, orders 'from news companies and newsdealers, we find that the 'circulation of THE WORLD (morning and evening editions) 'for the months of January and February, 1894, averaged 433,167 'copies per day, and so certify."

J. Edward Simmons, Chairman
Thomas L. James, Secretary
W. B. Thompson
E. W. Bloomingdale
Henry Claws
Charles W. Dayton

On Saturday, March 3, a committee of well-known financiers, comprising Messrs. J. EDWARD SIMMONS, President Fourth National Bank and ex-President of the Stock Exchange; THOMAS L. JAMES, President Lincoln National Bank and ex-Postmaster-General of the United States; A. B. HERRBURN, President Third National Bank, ex-Comptroller of the United States Currency, ex-Bank Examiner of the United States and ex-Superintendent of State Banks; E. W. BLOOMINGDALE, of the dry-goods house of Bloomingdale Bros.; HENRY CLAWS, of the banking house of Henry Claws & Co., and CHARLES W. DAYTON, Postmaster of the city of New York, after spending over two hours carefully investigating The World's circulation books, press-room reports, mail-room reports, paper companies' bills for amount of paper furnished, receipts of mail bills, orders from news companies and other records, and plying searching questions to The World's employees connected with the circulation department, signed the above certificate.

Multum in Parvo.
The World Almanac
FOR 25 Cents.

FIRE, DYNAMITE AND DEATH.

One Man Killed and Another Will Die at Cullman, Ala.

(By Associated Press.)
CULLMAN, Ala., March 6.—A fire broke out at 10 o'clock last night in the business portion of the city, and in less than five minutes an entire block was in flames. A terrific explosion soon occurred. It was dynamite stored in Koopman & Gierke's warehouse, owned by George Mitchell, clerk for Koopman & Gierke, was killed. George Pinkelburg was seriously injured and will die. At midnight the fire was still raging, and others were reported injured and missing. The explosion of dynamite shattered all the window glasses in the city.

Negro Murderer Lynched.
(By Associated Press.)
ATLANTA, Ga., March 6.—A negro named Ryester Rhodes, who had brutally murdered a prominent young white man, was caught at Jasper, and when the officers took him to Collins the prisoner was shot to death by a mob.

Capt. Peene for Mayor of Yonkers.
YONKERS, Mich., March 6.—The Republicans last night nominated Capt. John G. Peene, of the First Regiment, for Mayor. John G. Peene, still he nominated by the Democrats to fight.

PIE FILLED THE AIR.

A Baking Company's Wagon Rode Down, and Newsboys Looted It.

It filled the air and littered the street this morning at Nassau and Ann streets. And it was pie for the newsboys, too. A wagon of the New England Pie Baking Company, of 317 West Forty-sixth street, broke down at the Bennett Building about 8 o'clock. The driver unlatched the horse and led him away, leaving the wagon with its delectable load of pies unguarded.

Jack Callahan, a hustling newsboy, scooped booty in the shape of the unguarded pies, and gathered a crowd of half a hundred gamins to his support. By unanimous choice Jack was selected as publican, almost as soon as he was accepted with composure and opened the campaign promptly.

He commenced everything against the iron bar that kept the pies out of sight, and in a trice out bounded the pesty concourse, snatching, gulping, consuming, pumpkin, apple and peach.

The next instant Nassau and Ann streets were filled with cat-crowds, newsboys who had pie even in their eyes and hair.

Daniel G. Hatfield's Mishap.
ELIZABETH, N. J., March 6.—Daniel G. Hatfield, the veteran cock-fighter of Union Court, had another escape from breaking his neck last night in Harlem. He tumbled down a steep flight of stairs at the residence of a wealthy retired merchant, living on the Hundred and Fifty-sixth street, and was rendered unconscious. He recovered so as to take a train for his home in Harlem, but is still and sore to-day. He is sixty-one years old.

Capt. Peene for Mayor of Yonkers.
YONKERS, Mich., March 6.—The Republicans last night nominated Capt. John G. Peene, of the First Regiment, for Mayor. John G. Peene, still he nominated by the Democrats to fight.